

RELIGION and CULTURE in the POSTCOLONIAL CITY

Fully-Funded Faculty Development Seminar for Community College and MSI Faculty

LAHORE, PAKISTAN | JUNE 8-22, 2019

Security studies, religious studies, urban studies, cultural studies, and history all have various interests in and viewpoints on Pakistan.

This seminar, organized by CAORC and its member center in Pakistan, the American Institute of Pakistan Studies, seeks to add nuance and context to these understandings by providing participants with firsthand experiences of various cultural sites and practices in Lahore, including its medieval walled city and its colonial architectural landmarks, as well as facilitating meetings with local scholars, artists, and others.

Through encountering Lahore's urban geography, participants will glimpse how religious diversity, political struggle, and cultural expression fold into each other in this ancient city of over ten million people.

The program is only open to faculty members at community colleges or minority-serving institutions. Awarded faculty will receive round-trip travel, accommodations, and meals for the seminar.
